What's New in the Duplicate Media Finder?

Duplicate Media Finder is a handy piece of software designed for users that would like to avoid duplicating the same files repeatedly. The program will scan all the folder on your local and network drives and find the identical content you saved there in various formats. By setting a range of options, the app will narrow down the results by name, extension, date or size. You can let the duplicate video, track or files be kept or discarded. If you have a large media library, the app will help you find and eliminate duplicates. Another great features is that you can choose what do to with the identical files - delete, rename, keep or preview them as the best quality, earliest, smallest or longest. Download Duplicate Media Finder at Softpedia Discuss Duplicate Media Finder on our forum The program is available for free and is equipped with a friendly interface that allows you to set the details of files you want to search for. You can decide the level of sensitivity for the query, the app scans all the folder on your drives and finds the identical contents you saved there. At the same time, you can set the folder as default for downloads or include files on its zero-length or hidden. If you have many duplicates for the same file or for a number of files and you prefer not to waste time finding and deleting them all, you can decide which one you want to keep and choose from among a range of properties like name, extension, date and size. You can also check the properties of the duplicate content, delete, rename or open the app from the context menu and decide whether to save the duplicate content or delete them all. Although the app will not erase the duplicates, you can check the properties of the duplicate content and choose what to do with them. Thus, if you prefer to keep the duplicate content, then you can check the properties and choose to keep the duplicate content that has the best quality, earlier date, smallest size or longest duration.
